HILD 10: EAST ASIA: THE GREAT TRADITION
EARLY HISTORY AND CULTURES OF CHINA, KOREA, AND JAPAN

Professor: Dr. Schneewind Phone: (858) 822-0814
Office: HSS 3062 Office hours: Monday 3-4, Tuesday 1-3, and by appointment.
Mailbox: HSS 5012, fifth floor faculty lounge E-mail: sschneewind@ucsd.edu Lecture: Monday, Wednesday, and Friday 2:00-2:50, in Robinson Auditorium.

This course introduces the main threads of East Asian civilization in historical context. The first half narrates the basic history of Korea, Japan, and China from about 1200 BC to about 1200 AD, focusing on the creation of governments and ideologies, and the relations of society and the state. The second half moves topically to examine the major religions, the economy and the family, and cultural traditions over time. A textbook provides a basic framework. Other readings are mostly short primary sources (translated into English): a way to hear the voices of the past directly and learn to read and write about them as historians. Short weekly response papers and discussion in section will sharpen students’ communicative skills. Review is built into the course, and reading guides and study guides for the midterm and final are on WebCT. Each student may also read a book independently over the quarter and write about it on the final exam.

Required Books:
1. Patricia Ebrey, et al., East Asia: A Cultural, Social, and Political History. You may buy either the whole 2nd edition (recommended if you plan to take HILD 11 or 12), or the custom edition.
2. Confucius, The Essential Analects, translated and selected by Edward Slingerland (Hackett)

Extra Credit Option:
Choose one of the books listed on WebCT, read it over the course of the term, and write about it on the final exam for extra points. You must choose by October 12th and follow the schedule.

Course Requirements:
1. Do all the reading assigned under each day before lecture, and all the reading for each week before your section meeting. Read intelligently and take notes. Plan ahead.
2. Section (30% of your grade): Hand in a 1-2-page (350-500 word) response paper each week on the primary sources, and participate intelligently in discussion every week. Quizzes will also be given in section, if necessary. See WebCT for more on response papers.
3. Attend every lecture and take notes. Bring the coursepack and turn off your phone. If you must miss class for emergency medical or religious reasons, ask a classmate for the notes. Schedule plane tickets, etc., around class. Come on time, and leave when class is dismissed.
4. Prepare for the in-class midterm October 30th (30% of your grade) and final December 9th (40%) by reviewing your reading and class notes for each day after class, and for the whole term once a week. Study actively and often to retain and understand the material.
5. Check the WebCT site for assignments, for announcements, and especially for reading guides. If you have trouble with WebCT, go to Academic Computing and Media Services in AP & M 1313, 8:30-4:00; or phone them at 858-534-3227; or email acs-help@ucsd.edu.
6. If you have questions, need help, or must miss class for religious or medical reasons, contact your TA or the professor immediately. And, come talk to us when there are no problems! We hold office hours just to talk with you – about class, the readings, and your education.

7. Do your own work. You will be held to the University Policy on Integrity of Scholarship (see academicintegrity.ucsd.edu). Faculty and TAs must report any suspicion of cheating to the Academic Integrity Coordinator. For this class:
   a. Do not consult the internet except for maps and pictures.
   b. Discussion about class materials is good, but you must sit down to write response papers by yourself, with only the primary sources and your notes in front of you. If you get a good idea from someone else, credit him or her in your paper, put it in your own words, and develop it further yourself. If you take more than three consecutive words from someone else’s writing, put them in quotation marks and cite properly.
   c. If you have questions, ask the TA or professor right away. There is also information at http://historyweb.ucsd.edu/pages/undergraduate/Current/plagiarism.htm.
   d. Students agree that by taking this course all required papers will be subject to submission for textual similarity review to Turnitin.com for the detection of plagiarism. All submitted papers will be included as source documents in the Turnitin.com reference database solely for the purpose of detecting plagiarism of such papers. Use of the Turnitin.com service is subject to the terms of use agreement posted on the Turnitin.com site.

8. University policy requires that to pass with the Pass/No Pass option, you must earn a C. To pass with a letter grade, you must earn a D. I advise opting for a letter grade.
